Story title: Charter, Houlihan's, Vh1 donate $600K in instruments to schools

VH1 Save The Music Foundation, Charter Communications and Houlihan's restaurant will present $600,000 worth of musical instruments to St. Louis Public Schools on Thursday.

The donation of instruments is aimed at restoring music education programs at 20 St. Louis schools for the 2008-2009 school year.

Since 1999, Charter Communications and VH1 Save The Music have provided $1.25 million worth of new musical instruments to restore music programs in 46 area schools.

Around lunchtime Thursday, students at Patrick Henry Downtown Academy will get their first glance at a new keyboard lab created for them.

Restaurant chain Houlihan's is based in Leawood, Kan.

St. Louis-based Charter Communications Inc. (Nasdaq: CHTR) is the nation's third-largest cable television provider, and also provides digital video programming and high-speed Internet access.
